Early predictability in cost and specifications

High intensity in the project and weekly progression

Operational needs and hierarchy before the project

Intense and common session with deep dive work to handle complexity

Individual work when time allows

An active and committed project owner to support the project and ensure stakeholder satisfaction

Formal and remote steering committees with accuracy and predictability as primary need

Collaborative project leader with people focus to drive impact creation

Project manager focused on technical issues and systems to handle the project

Flexibility in governance and execution model to empower people and impact in gate decisions

Rules and standardised best practises before the needs of the specific project
